Every headline claim points to named experiments